

UNIVERSITY OF NAIROBI
INSTITUTE OF ANTHROPOLOGY, GENDER AND AFRICAN STUDIES
COURSE DESCRIPTION:
NDG 601: INTEGRATING WOMEN AND GENDER MAINSTREAMING
INSTRUCTOR: W. SUBBO

The course aims at enabling learners to understand the shift from integrating to mainstreaming, origin and definition of gender mainstreaming, gender equality; techniques and tools of gender mainstreaming, strategies for gender mainstreaming: Access and control over resources, Activity profile of women and men in various sectors of economy. Gender analytical frameworks. Capacity building for gender mainstreaming. Practical skills for gender mainstreaming. Gender mainstreaming and empowerment. Monitoring and evaluation of gender mainstreaming.

Topics

- i. Concepts of integrating women and gender mainstreaming
- ii. Shift from integrating women to mainstreaming
- iii. Main strategies for gender mainstreaming
- iv. Access and control over resources
- v. Activity profile of women and men in various sectors of the economy
- vi. Gender analytical frameworks
- vii. Capacity building for gender mainstreaming
- viii. Gender mainstreaming and empowerment
- ix. Practical skills for gender mainstreaming
- x. Monitoring and evaluation of gender mainstreaming
- xi. Revision.

Examination.

Cat- 30%

Final- 70%

Total 100%

References

- I. Unesco (2002) Women, Basic Education Community Health and Sustainable development. Monograph of Papers presented at a strategic planning workshop.
- II. Boserup E (1970) Women's Role in Economic development . London George Allen and Unwin.
- III. Ongile G (1993) The effects of structural Adjustment on Women employment (IDS) Working paper Institute of Development Studies University of Nairobi.
- IV. Scolt C. V. (1990) Gender and development Rethinking Modernization and dependency Theory. London Lynne Rienner Publishers.
- V. Government of Kenya and Unicef (1992) Children and women in Kenya a situation Analysis. Nairobi Unicef Kenya.
- VI. Kilbride Philip L and Janet C Kilbride (1990) Changing Family Life in East Africa. Women and children at Risk. University Park Pennsylvania State University Press
- VII. Republic of Kenya (1994) National Development plan (1997-2001) Government printer
- VIII. Were Gideon (1985) Women and development in Africa. Gideon S Were Press
- IX. Heinrich Boell Foundation (2003) Perspectives on gender Discourse. HBF
- X. Nzomo M (2002) The Political and Economic Aspects of the Gender Question in the Constitutional Reform in Kenya. Background paper prepared for the constitutional review process January
- XI. Heinrich Boell Foundation (2001) Gender gaps in our constitutions women's concerns in selected African countries. Oct 1-3 (2001) Nairobi HBF Nairobi.

More references to be given in the course of lectures